Colorado to Prosecute Graham For Mass Murder in Plane Deaths

DENVER, Pa. — The federal government told the state of Colorado today that it could prosecute John Gilbert Graham for mass murder in the United Air Lines bomb plot crash that killed 44 persons, including his own mother.

The federal action, announced by U. S. Atty. Donald E. Kelley, prepared the way for the state to file charges against Graham, 23, that could send him to the gas chamber.

Graham confessed Monday that he sweated for 35 minutes waiting for the delayed takeoff Nov. 1 of

Plan Building Program at Eldorado High

A building program, planned to enlarge and improve the facilities of the Eldorado Township high school, has been announced by members of the Board of Education, District 102.

The following statement has been released by the Board of Education:

"For the past two years an intensive study concerning building needs has been carried on by the Eldorado Township high school Board of Education, District No. 102.

"This study reveals that several departments in the high school are not sufficiently equipped and housed to provide for the educational needs of our boys and girls.

"This makes it imperative that the Board of Education take steps to improve building facilities in the following departments: Agricultural, industrial arts, band and music and physical education. Present facilities prevent the Board of Education from giving the boys and girls a modern, up-to-date program in any of the above fields.

"In order to give our children the needed modern facilities, the people in School District No. 102 will be given the opportunity of voting for or against an improved educational program on Dec. 17.

"In the next few weeks a complete explanation of the pressing building needs of the Eldorado Township high school will be presented to the citizens of School District No. 102."

Members of the school board—Leonard Smith, president; Carl Johnson, vice president; Charles R. Hauser, secretary; and members Dr. James A. Barker, Fred Choiser, Carroll Harbison and Harry Bramlet unanimously approved the building recommendations.

Lee Potter Smith and Associates of Paducah, Ky., conducted the building survey and recommended a program that will include a two-story addition to the present gymnasium. The new addition would house a sound-proof band and music room and also facilities for agriculture and industrial arts. A new gymnasium would also be constructed.

Chester Legion To Meet with Prison Members

CHESTER, Ill. —Alva Courier Post 487 of the American Legion will take its meeting tonight to some of its members inside the walls of Menard State Penitentiary.

The post has 33 members among the Menard inmates and the meeting will be the first such in the history of the Legion and penal institutions. Commander Wib Alms said the meeting and others to come are part of the post's rehabilitation program for its inmate members.

The inmates will take part in voting on the post's business along with the 75 regular members. The entire post membership, including the inmates, will be guests of Warden Ross V. Randolph at a dinner in the prison officers' dining room before the meeting.

Two top-ranking Legionnaires—5th Division Commander Floyd McCracken, Greenville, and 25th District Commander Charles Shumaker, Murphysboro also will attend the dinner and meeting.

Alms said the inmate Legionnaires are not permitted to hold office in the post nor do they have meetings of their own in Menard. The Chester post does not try to arrange for their release by parole or pardon nor does it have a visitation program other than the planned two meetings per year.

The inmates are qualified for membership in the Legion on the basis of having honorable discharges from military service. What they did after honorable service in the armed forces does not affect the eligibility.

Most of the inmate Legionnaires are veterans of World War II although a few served in World War I and the Korean war.

Ex-Con Admits Kidnap-Slaying Of Housewife

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 30-year-old ex-convict, who casually admitted the kidnap-slaying of a Kansas City, Mo., housewife, today faced still other charges of attempted murder, kidnapping, rape, burglary and car theft.

The suspect, Arthur Ross Brown, had vowed never to be taken alive. He was arrested Monday without a struggle when FBI agents and police found him asleep in a stolen car with two loaded pistols at his feet.

An FBI agent testified at a bail hearing Monday that the stocky, blond ex-convict admitted the kidnap-slaying of Wilma Allen, the attractive 34-year-old wife of a wealthy Kansas City automobile dealer last Aug. 4.

U. S. Commissioner Joseph Karsh ordered Brown held on $100,000 bond pending action by Kansas City authorities. He was held on a charge of transporting a stolen car across state lines.

Mrs. Allen's nude body was found in a field 25 miles from Kansas City three days after she disappeared from a fashionable shopping area. She had been shot twice in the back of the head.

The FBI said Brown confessed he forced his way into Mrs. Allen's car and made her drive out of town where he killed her and dumped her body in a field. He drove the blood-spattered car back to Kansas City and abandoned it near the Union Station.

The murder of Mrs. Allen, a mother of two boys, ages 9 and 11, touched off the most intensive Kansas City police hunt since the kidnap-slaying of Bobby Greenlee in 1953.

Federal authorities said Brown also was wanted for investigation of burglary, attempted murder and assault in Sheridan, Wyo.; for the kidnaping of his own wife in Kansas City, and a rape-burglary in San Jose, Calif.

Captain Jose, as he prefers to be called, is an authority on Inter-American relations. According to the speaker, there is immediate and imperative need for closer cooperation between all Americans. STEVENSON MAKES BID FOR NOMINATION

West Abandons Efforts to Open Iron Curtain

Reject Molotov
Plan to Exchange
Scientific Groups

GENEVA (AP) — The Western Big Three abandoned today their efforts to get Russia to open the Iron Curtain.

They did so after unanimously rejecting a new Soviet proposal which U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles denounced as "a very great danger to peace."

It was introduced by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at the first of two plenary sessions today. It provided for exchanges of sponsored scientific delegations that would bring Western know-how to Russia. But it flatly ignored all Western pleas for opening holes in the Iron Curtain for a free flow of news and ideas.

After the first session, Dulles and Molotov met alone for 15 minutes to confer on arrangements for ending the conference Wednesday. The three Western ministers then met for 45 minutes before the start of the afternoon's 15th plenary session.

Later, a Western spokesman announced that the four ministers would go into secret session after their usual team break to begin work on a final communiqué.

The "Fruitless Discussion"

At the morning session, Dulles pointed out that Molotov had rejected all but 5 of 17 Western proposals aimed at lifting the Iron Curtain and increasing East-West contacts. He added that even those 5 had been only partially accepted.

French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay rejected the Soviet's plan, charging that Molotov had "taken refuge in generalizations."

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan also rejected the Moscow plan. He urged that fruitless discussion be cut short, noting that "at present there seems to be a real difference of view between the two sides which cannot be bridged."

Even before today's session began an authoritative source disclosed the West had begun drafting a solemn pledge to continue working for German unity despite failure on the Big Four to come anywhere near agreement on the question of Germany.

Congressman to Call Meeting to Break New Harmony Bridge Deadlock

EVANSVILLE, Ind.—A meeting to break the present stalemate over the New Harmony bridge has been promised by Congressman Winfield K. Denton.

He said he would invite to Washington representatives of Indiana and Illinois Toll Bridge commissions, the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads and the other two members of the congressional committee which he led in an investigation of the White County Bridge commission, which has jurisdiction over the bridge.

The meeting is expected to determine whether the states of Indiana and Illinois will agree to take over management of the bridge on a toll-free basis or whether it will be necessary to pass federal legislation to govern its future operation.

Christmas Seal Sale by Saline County Tuberculosis Ass'n to Begin Wednesday

The Christmas Seal sale will begin throughout the United States tomorrow, it was announced today by Mrs. Naida Seright Upchurch, seal sale chairman of the Saline County Tuberculosis association. The envelopes have been prepared for mailing through the joint efforts of the commercial department of the Harrisburg, Carrier Mills and Calatia high schools.

The Tuberculosis Ass'n does not make a door to door solicitation for funds. The only method of fund raising is through the sale of Christmas seals by mail. The seals are one dollar per sheet and two sheets of seals are mailed. Those to whom Christmas Seal bonds are mailed are not expected to buy both bonds and seals, but seals are enclosed with the bonds for use on cards and packages.

Some people, Mrs. Upchurch states, have the idea that TB is licked and that it is no longer a public health problem. The feeling the public had for tuberculosis was once one of fear; now, the

President Eisenhower Tours Gettysburg Farm On First Full Day at Home

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower, on his first full day at home, made an early morning tour of his rolling Pennsylvania farm today.

The President examined his prize herd of Black Angus cattle, the extensive landscaping around his farm house and barn, and his new putting green.

The President planned a relatively quiet day, dictating during the morning in his farmhouse study. He planned a more detailed business session in the afternoon.

The Chief Executive was mainly concerned today with matters discussed by his cabinet which met in Washington. Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams was to fly here immediately after the session to give Mr. Eisenhower a first-hand report.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower drove to Gettysburg from Washington Monday for the remainder of the President's convalescence from the heart attack he suffered in Denver Sept. 24.

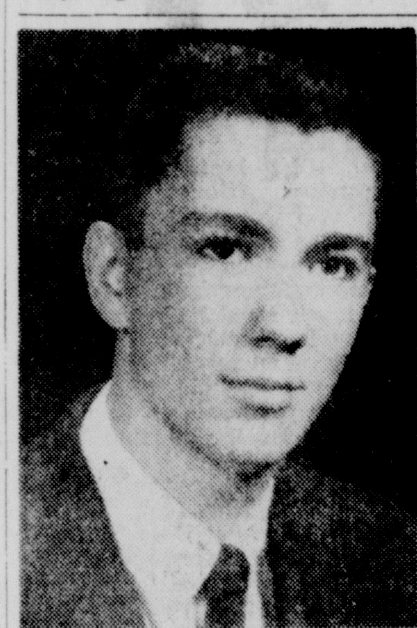

Cabinet Officer Expected
The President will confer Wednesday with Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, his first major visitor outside his immediate staff and the only member of the cabinet he did not see during his confinement in the hospital in Denver.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is expected here Friday to report to Mr. Eisenhower on the Geneva foreign ministers meeting.

As Mr. Eisenhower's work pace quickens, he will occupy a new business office in the Gettysburg post office. But the move probably will not occur until later this week because refurnishing and equipping of the small room have not been completed.

Lists Reasons For Seeking Presidency in '56

Statement Issued
As Democrats Gather
For National Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson declared today he will "do all I can" to win the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic standard-bearer, became the first candidate to toss his hat into the ring for 1956.

His announcement, anticipated for months, came in the form of a 350-word statement.

Stevenson referred to Republican talk about "prosperity and peace" as a possible GOP slogan next year. He said it should be the Democratic Party's "task" to make the phrase "not a political slogan but an active search for a better America and a better world."

"I am ready to do what I can to that end either as a worker in the ranks or at the top of the ticket if my party sees fit to so honor me," Stevenson said.

Gives Three Reasons

The 55-year-old former governor of Illinois made no reference to plans he may have for entering presidential preference primaries in the various states next spring.

However, he is expected to discuss the primaries, as well as announce the appointment of a manager to direct his campaign for the nomination, at a news conference Wednesday.

Stevenson gave three reasons for seeking the nomination:

1. "I believe it important" for the Democratic Party to take over the national administration.
2. He has been "assured" of support from "representative people in and out of my party throughout the country."
3. He believes all citizens should contribute what they can "to the search for a safer, saner world."

Text of Statement:

"I shall be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President next year.

"I shall do all I can to persuade my party to entrust that immense responsibility to me again, because 'First, I believe it important for the Democratic Party to resume the executive direction of our national affairs.'

"Second, I am assured that my candidacy would be welcomed by representative people in and out of my party throughout the country.

"Third, I believe any citizen should make whatever contribution he can to the search for a safer, saner world."

"It is of first importance to return the executive branch of our government to the Democratic Party because it is apparent that wisdom and responsibility began to reappear in the conduct of our affairs only with the return of

Future Grows Clearer
Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
With President Eisenhower's move back from Denver, some of the uncertainty that has bedeviled his future since the fateful heart attack of Sept. 24 has begun to disappear. Firm dates now dot his calendar.
Most of the time in November and December he will live and work at his farm in Gettysburg, except for brief trips for special meetings at the White House. Of greater interest is the program that seems to be shaping up for him after Jan. 1, when he is expected to resume living in Washington.

Reports from the capital have it that some time between Jan. 20 and Feb. 8 the President will decide and make known whether or not he will run for a second term.
This assumes, you will note, that he will not have decided before that time. Evidence is mounting that he has not yet made up his mind and perhaps is not trying to at this stage.
Men in Mr. Eisenhower's official entourage knock down every story which suggests he has decided. Roscoe Drummond, who writes in both the New York Herald Tribune and the Christian Science Monitor, recently said flatly that he knows two members of the President's family who believe he is still weighing the decision or deferring it.

There is considerable feeling that Mr. Eisenhower is holding off until the doctors can tell him how complete his recovery may be. That time will be the latter part of January.
By that time, too, he will have been back in the White House long enough to get some idea how effectively he can perform his official duties under the restricted regimen the doctors will prescribe for him.
He will then be able fairly to consult his conscience on the state of his health and the state of the world, as Drummond said, and determine his course.

These reports must give pause to the politicians and others who quickly concluded the President would make a snap decision not to run.
The weight of seasoned opinion still is that he will eventually take himself out of the 1956 race. But recent events surely dictate caution.
In his misfortune Mr. Eisenhower learned anew, with greater force than ever, how highly the common citizens of America and the free world prize him as a leader. If he really can make a full recovery, this fresh knowledge might bear heavily on his vital choice to run or not to run.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Adlai's Campaign Already Carefully Organized: He Studies Farm Program; Will Try To Win, Not Snub Big City Bosses.

WASHINGTON. — Adlai Stevenson's tossing of his hat into the ring for the Democratic nomination today comes after some extremely careful thought and preparation. He has talked to all sorts of friends, already built up a smooth-working organization. His approach is completely opposite to his semi-spontaneous draft of 1952.

Among those to whom he has talked is ex-Governor James Cox, grand old man of the Democratic party and the Democratic nominee for president in 1920. Cox was a young fellow in Washington when Adlai's grandfather was vice president under Grover Cleveland.

"You could fire a cannon between his legs," said Cox, "and he'd never bat an eye."

"Am I a fool for wanting to be president?" Adlai asked the elder statesman.

"I didn't think I was a fool when I wanted to be president in 1920," Cox replied. "But now I think I ought to have had my sanity tested."

Cox ran against Warren Harding immediately after World War I, when the drift to Republicans was so strong that probably no Democrat could have been elected.

Stevenson told friends privately as early as last spring that he intended to run for president. He made this decision when most politicians were sure Eisenhower was going to run again and when many Democrats thought no one could beat him. Stevenson argued that the decision to run should not be based on whether he could win.

"Sometimes the most important fights are the ones you lose," he said.

FARM EXPERT
In preparation for the race, he's done a lot of studying, has conducted a sort of seminar for himself with various experts.
At one of his brain-trust meetings on the question of farm problems, Stevenson recalled that his father had been a professional farm manager, made his living operating several thousand acres in central Illinois.

"I haven't learned farming out of a book," he said. "I grew up with it."

"When I first went to Washington, I went to work in the Agriculture Department because I thought it was the most challenging problem facing the nation."

Henry Wallace, who, incidentally, has now veered over to Eisenhower, was then secretary of agriculture, and Stevenson got a job under Jerome Frank, then chief counsel of the AAA, now circuit court judge in New York, and one of the leading Jews of the United States.

"Jerry Frank had a house in Georgetown," recalled Stevenson, "and we used to go out there and burn the midnight oil trying to solve the problem of surplus corn, surplus wheat, and especially at that time, too many pigs."

"One night it was scorching. Jerry Frank was stripped to the waist, working under a hot electric light bulb, the moths and June bugs zooming around it. Suddenly Jerry put his head down on the table and I thought for a minute he had fainted from exhaustion."

"Then he came to. 'I've got it,' he said. 'All we've got to do to lick the pig problem is persuade the Jews to eat pork.'"

Most Washingtonians have forgotten the days when Adlai Stevenson was a young lawyer in Washington, just as they have forgotten the days when Milton Eisenhower, brother of the President, worked with him in the Agriculture Department under Wallace.

BIG CITY BOSSES
Stevenson's preparations for the '56 campaign which he plans to announce tomorrow, are more practical than in 1952. In that campaign he proceeded to snub the big city bosses who nominated him. Even Jack Arvey, leader of Chicago, who had largely made Adlai governor of Illinois, found his old political enemy, Steve Mitchell, running Adlai's campaign as Democratic national chairman.

Fearful of the mink coat and deep freeze scandals of Truman's day, Adlai leaned toward the southern wing of the party, kept the big city bosses aloof. Even when Jim Finnegan of Philadelphia was proposed by Harry Truman as Democratic chairman in New Orleans as late as last winter, Stevenson opposed him — and won. He put his own man, Paul Butler of Indiana, in the chairmanship instead.

Tomorrow all that will be officially changed. Tomorrow Stevenson will announce the appointment of Jim Finnegan as his campaign manager. Wilson Wyatt, ex-mayor of Louisville, of the semi-southern wing of the party and campaign manager in '52, will not serve again. He'll be strong for Stevenson and will help in many other ways. But both he and Adlai recognize the importance of having a big city boss in their corner. Too many of the big city bosses already are in Harrisburg's corner.

Barry Bingham, owner of the Louisville Courier-Journal, a southern liberal and one of the outstanding editors of the nation, will head the Citizens for Stevenson committee, with Harry Ashmore, editor of the Little Rock Gazette as Adlai's chief brain-truster and speech-writer. Ashmore is a southerner who wrote a broad-gauge book on the Negro problem and school segregation.

Stevenson forces have not been saying much about it, but already they have been out corraling delegates, have made important inroads on the old Kefauver strength in California once overwhelmingly for the senator from Tennessee.

Behind this advance-work is the quiet, indefatigable Jack Arvey, who, though sometimes on the sidelines in 1952, never ceased to be Stevenson's devoted friend and at times father-confessor.

One thing that has worried Arvey and all of Stevenson's friends is Adlai's divorce and the fact that his wife has taken bitter cracks at him.

"What you need," Arvey advised Adlai at one family conference in the Stevenson home, "is to marry a rich widow with three small boys, each with freckles on his nose."

"You see what you've got to do," Adlai turned to his beautiful daughter-in-law, a bride of only three months. "You've got to produce three grandsons for me, all with freckles on their noses, and do it in less than nine months."

United Nations May Get 18 New Members Through East-West Compromise

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations shortly may number 78 members through adoption of an East-West agreement ending a five-year deadlock on new members, an informed source predicted today.

U. S.-Soviet differences over Outer Mongolia and the procedure for introducing the compromise on 18 new members to the United Nations were reported to be the only things in the way of increasing the membership of the 60-state world body.

Consultations were being held to settle these differences, informed sources said. It was predicted Monday night that the 11-member Security Council would meet probably this week to get the ball rolling on the move to introduce the new members.

But, this appeared to be the core of a difference on procedure between the United States and Britain and Canada. The United States was reported to favor the Security Council again tackling the problem—since the General Assembly last year instructed its number-one organization to work on the problem. The Canadians, who originally presented the United Nations with the compromise idea, and the British would like the plan to be introduced through the General Assembly before it is presented to the Security Council.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. already has announced the U. S. would abstain in the voting on Communist Romania, Bulgaria, Albania and Hungary. This appeared to assure these four Soviet satellites of membership.

Lodge also told a press conference Sunday that "it has been reported that the Soviet Union would be willing to withhold its veto" on the 13 free nations. This would bring Austria, Italy, Ireland, Finland, Portugal, Spain, Cambodia, Ceylon, Japan, Jordan, Laos, Libya and Nepal into the United Nations.

Well-informed sources said that even Outer Mongolia would "make the grade" despite Lodge's protest that this was not possible Sunday. The sources said that the U. S. delegate appeared to be talking for American home consumption and that the United States would back down and accept even Outer Mongolia to break the deadlock.

Housewife Gives Husband a 'Good Scare'

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — A housewife's plot to give her husband a "good scare" stirred up a mid-western police alarm.

Mrs. Lillian Brooks, 40, left her Detroit, Mich., home with her four children and a small arsenal of guns Monday.

"You drove me to this," Mrs. Brooks said in a note she left for her husband. "I am taking the children with me. None of us has insurance so it is going to cost you plenty for the funerals."

Brooks checked and found his wife had taken four shotguns and a rifle, plus the family car and his last week's pay of $174. He called police and an alarm was broadcast throughout Michigan and neighboring states.

The alert was called off hours later when the Brooks' married daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Simpkins of Waukegan, reported that her mother had dropped in for a visit. The mother had spent a pleasant afternoon before heading back to Detroit, Mrs. Simpkins said.

"She just wanted to teach her husband a good lesson, I guess," she concluded.

General Labor Strike Fails In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A general strike called by Juan D. Peron's General Confederation of Labor appeared today to have failed, giving the new government of President Pedro E. Aramburu a victory in a major test of strength.

The CGT, whose 6,000,000 members were the backbone of political strength of the ousted Argentine dictator, called the strike of unlimited duration with the knowledge that failure might doom it as a power in the Argentina of today.

More than five hours after the strike went into effect at midnight there were no appreciable effects in Buenos Aires and telephone calls to the more important provincial cities showed that everything was normal there too.

Newspapers were appearing on schedule—even El Lider, the official newspaper of the CGT. It announced it was appearing thanks to an "emergency staff."

Telephone and power services were normal. The state radio and most other stations kept transmitting long after the usual hour, broadcasting official communiques and appeals to the workers to pay no attention to the strike call.

Strike Follows Coup The strike call came from the CGT only 24 hours after Aramburu took over from Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi, the provisional president who was ousted Sunday afternoon in a palace coup.

The CGT issued the call despite a broadcast over the state radio warning that all work stoppages were forbidden and that labor leaders calling them would be arrested.

A column of Sherman tanks, half-tracks and weapons carriers roared through the streets of Buenos Aires Monday night, past government mansion and the CGT headquarters to the suburbs and there were reports labor leaders were being arrested.

Wintry Storm Moving Across Plains States

By United Press A fast-charging wintry storm hit the Midwest today and the Weather Bureau posted warnings of zero cold, heavy snows, and possible tornadoes.

The storm skipped across the central Rockies and raced across the Great Plains to western Kansas and Nebraska.

The Kansas City, Mo., Weather Bureau issued a warning of locally severe thunderstorms and possibly one or two tornadoes 50 miles on either side of a line stretching from Springfield, Mo., to Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Cold wave warnings were also posted for parts of Nebraska and Kansas. Heavy snow warnings of from three to seven inches were issued for parts of Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The storm had already spread new snow from the northern Rockies to the upper Mississippi Valley, plus freezing rain in Minnesota and the eastern Dakotas and more rain farther south.

Film Columnist Is Found Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — An autopsy will be held into the death of Elizabeth B. Bateson, 36, who wrote a Hollywood column for the Chicago Sun Times under the name of Ann St. John.

Mrs. Bateson was found dead in her West Hollywood apartment Monday by her former husband, Ernest E. Redlich, who went to the apartment after he failed to contact her for several days.

A preliminary coroner's examination indicated she apparently died from natural causes, but an autopsy was ordered. She had been dead for several days.

Miss Bateson wrote the "This is Hollywood" column for the Chicago newspaper.

Oklahoma Holds No. One Grid Rating; Michigan State Advances to Second

NEW YORK — Oklahoma retained the No. 1 United Press college football rating today, but Michigan State moved up to second place ahead of Maryland and threatened to explode Orange Bowl hopes of staging a showdown between the nation's two top teams.

And ironically, Michigan State, which has swept aside some of the nation's toughest opposition since its lone defeat at the hands of Michigan on Oct. 1, may not even receive a bowl bid for its impressive efforts.

A comparatively formful weekend produced few changes in the United Press top 10 teams selected by 35 of the nation's leading coaches. Six of the week's first seven teams—all except fourth-ranked Notre Dame—are New Year's Day bowl prospects.

Oklahoma's split-T terrors were the first-place choices of 18 of the 35 coaches; Michigan State was picked tops by 10 coaches and Maryland by four. The only other teams that attracted first-place votes were fifth-ranked UCLA, with two, and seventh-ranked Texas Christian, one.

Oklahoma and Maryland Orange Bowl promoters are pulling for Oklahoma and Maryland to finish 12 nationally and thus make their Miami classic an actual battle for the college football championship.

The Sooners, who have won 27 straight games and already have clinched an Orange Bowl berth, have games remaining against Nebraska and Oklahoma A&M, Maryland, with a string of 14 triumphs and almost certain to be the Atlantic Coast Conference representative, winds up its regular season against George Washington Saturday.

Michigan State moved ahead of the Terrapins this week after walling Minnesota, 42-14, last Saturday while Maryland struggled for one half before downing Clemson, 25-12.

However, Coach Duffy Daugherty's Spartans will go to

SIU Students to Observe Parents Day Saturday

CARBONDALE, Ill.—The mother and father of a Southern Illinois university student will reign over Parents' Day activities here Saturday, Nov. 19.

All students are eligible to submit their parents' names at special booths set up in the Student Union and in Old Main from Monday thru Wednesday. The lucky parents will be selected at a drawing Wednesday afternoon, during the student-faculty "coffee hour."

The winning parents and their son or daughter will occupy a special box at the SIU-Northern Illinois football game Saturday afternoon as guests of President and Mrs. Delyte W. Morris.

They will also be honored at a dinner for all students and their parents to be served at noon in the men's gym on campus.

Parents of members of the Southern football squad will be given special recognition at the game. The fathers—wearing their sons' numbers on their backs—will have seats on a bench directly behind the players' bench. Football mothers will sit in a reserved section in the east stands.

Don Boehmer, East St. Louis junior, is student chairman for the event.

the Rose Bowl only if sixth-ranked Michigan loses to eighth-ranked Ohio State.

Notre Dame advanced to fourth place, changing places with UCLA. Michigan and Texas Christian clung to the Nos. 6 and 7 ratings; Ohio State jumped two places to eighth; Texas A&M held ninth, and Georgia Tech dropped two places to 10th.

Top Bowl Candidates

Of this group, UCLA is the likely Pacific Coast Conference representative in the Rose Bowl; Michigan can win the Big Ten trip to Pasadena, Calif.; and TCU is the best bet as the Southwest Conference host in the Cotton Bowl. Georgia Tech also is a bowl prospect.

With points distributed on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for a second and so on down, to one for a 10th place vote, here is how the top 10 lined up: Oklahoma 305, Michigan State 290, Maryland 273, Notre Dame 222, UCLA 218, Michigan 159, Texas Christian 114, Ohio State 95, Texas A&M 84 and Georgia Tech 82.

The Michigan-Ohio State and Notre Dame and Iowa games appear the most likely to cause shake-ups in next week's ratings.

Navy topped the second group of only nine teams mentioned in this week's voting by the coaches. Auburn, Mississippi and Duke filled the next three rankings in order, while Pittsburgh and West Virginia were tied for 15th. Stanford was 17th and Iowa and Miami, Fla., were tied for 18th.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON

Mrs. Geneva Altmire is the champion of the "you pick 'em" contest for football games played the weekend of Nov. 11.

The champion won by the margin of one point over previous winner, David Nelson. Each picked eight correctly and had one loss and also missed on the tie game between Murphysboro and Carbondale. In fact Mrs. Altmire and David tied there; each picked Murphysboro to be the winner.

To select the winner we had to go to the score of the game of the week. Each selected Benton to win, David by a score of 14-6 and Mrs. Altmire by a 13-6 score. The score read Benton 12, Harrisburg 6, so Mrs. Altmire was the closer by a one-point margin.

Mrs. Altmire was one of the few "fair sex" contestants in our little game. When we pick up again later this month when basketball season is in full swing we hope Mrs. Altmire will continue to send in her selections and many more women will join with her. And of course we want you men to keep sending in selections. The more the merrier.

There is basketball in the area now, with all members of the Greater Egyptian conference listed for action in the weeks to come, but there won't be sufficient games to make up a "you pick 'em" until later when the football playing high schools go into cage action. About Nov. 21 we will again offer a blank and invite all Daily Register readers to play "you pick 'em."

Incidentally — in going through the mail received for the Nov. 11 weekend entries, found a letter postmarked Nov. 1, that was mailed for the Nov. 4 contest. It was from Eric Hansen and Eric gained the distinction of picking the winner in one of the two basketball games on the blank for the first week of this month. Eric picked Rosiclare to win over Carrier Mills. If you remember we listed two basketball games—Equality at Cave-in-Rock and Rosiclare at Carrier Mills. We mentioned that no one called a winner in either game. Turns out we were in error. Eric called the Rosiclare victory.

Sorry we failed to open your entry last week Eric. Just an oversight.

Coaches in this area usually talk about the lack of height on their basketball teams. That item apparently doesn't worry the coach of the New York Knicks of the National professional league. The Knicks will meet the St. Louis Hawks in St. Louis tonight and a release shows the following for the Knicks—Walter Dukes 7-0, Ken Sears 6-9, Ray Felix 7-0, Sweetwater Clifton 6-7, Harry Galatin and Bob Peterson, each 6-6.

And the Hawks aren't little guys with Charley Share 7-0, Bob Pettit 6-9, Alex Hunnum 6-7 and Chuck

Cooper 6-6 to name a few.

Pitcher Vinegar Bend Mizell, who will return to the Cardinals next spring after two years in the Army, is limbering up in the Cuban League. With Havana, says The Sporting News, he fanned 47 men in his first 35 innings. In beating Almendares, 2 to 1, in a recent game, he fanned 15.

The man who bought the first football mask 23 years ago to protect an injury, now wants them abolished. He's George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins. He bought the first face guard in 1932 to protect Ernie Pinckert's fractured jaw. But now, says The Sporting News, Marshall says masks don't belong in football. He argues that they cause more injuries than they prevent.

Gasoline consumption in Norway last year averaged 96 kilogram per capita, fifth highest in western Europe.

Miss Bonnie Jean Dunn, Charles Neal Wed at Buena Vista Methodist Church

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neal

Before an altar of emerald and huckleberry, baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums and candelabra containing white lighted tapers, Miss Bonnie Jean Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Dunn, RFD 1, Harrisburg, and Charles Neal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Osco Neal of Milford, Ill., exchanged wedding vows at the Buena Vista Methodist church.

The double ring ceremony took place Saturday, Nov. 5, at eight o'clock in the evening with the Rev. George Jenkins officiating.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a floor length gown of white tulle and lace designed with a fitted bodice and tulle yoke. The long lace sleeves came to a point over the hand. She wore a fingertip veil of tulle secured to a white headband, and she carried on a white Bible, an orchid with white streamers intermingled with stephanotis.

Mrs. Betty Drallinger of Hoopes-ton, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, wearing a blue nylon net formal with a yellow headband. She carried a bouquet of blue and yellow pom poms.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jean Fleming, cousin of the bride, and Miss Ruby Steinsultz, close friend. They also wore gowns of blue with yellow headbands, and carried bouquets of yellow pom poms.

Earl Drallinger, Hoopes-ton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Glendell Dunn, brother of the bride, and Bob Neal, brother of the bridegroom, who also served as ushers.

Miss Lorene Dorris, organist, played appropriate wedding music and accompanied Jim Suver, soloist, who sang "Because," "Al-ways," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Little Geraldine Fleming of Red Bud, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a dress of yellow nylon and carrying a nosegay of blue pom poms. Her headband was of blue satin tubing.

Ring bearer was Loren Fleming, East St. Louis, also cousin of the bride, who carried the rings on a white satin pillow trimmed with lace.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, covered with lace, was centered with a lovely white three tiered cake encircled with greenery and white pom poms and flanked with white candles. Hostesses were Mrs. Betty Fleming, Mrs. Lillian Fleming and Miss Dean Neal. The wedding cake was cut with a satin handled knife, with satin streamers and pom poms. A miniature bride and groom topped the cake.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a dress of navy with navy accessories and a corsage of white gladioli. Mrs. Neal chose for her son's wedding a dress of beige lace over pink with brown accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

Following a wedding trip through the South the couple will be at home at 412 East Main street in Hoopes-ton.

The bride attended the Harrisburg Township high school and was formerly bookkeeper for the Saline Motor Co., and the bridegroom is employed as a driver for the Illinois Canning Co. in Hoopes-ton.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Debon, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson, Hoopes-ton, Mrs. Louis Hafford, Mrs. Ben Morse, Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Williams, Rosiclare, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fleming, Phyllis Ann and Loren Fleming of East St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming, Geraldine Fleming, Red Bud, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Meyers, Red Bud, Edward and David Flicker, Red Bud, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hicks, Herod.

Mrs. Mary Pelhank to observe 88th birthday

Mrs. Mary Pelhank will celebrate her 88th birthday Friday, Nov. 13, with a dinner at her home in Garden Heights attended by close friends and relatives.

Open house will be held in the afternoon from 2 to 4 so that old friends may call.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Mooneyham, Muskegon Heights, Mich., are in this city, visiting his sister, Mrs. Blanche Stricklin, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walthew.

C. Leo Moore, New Orleans, La., eldest son of C. C. Moore, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moore. He is in the contracting business in New Orleans.

Altha Fuller Circle of First Baptist Church Meets

The Altha Fuller circle of the First Baptist church met Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. Lola Wickham for the regular monthly social.

The chairman, Mrs. Virginia Howell, presided and the meeting was opened with the group singing "The Great Physician," followed in prayer by Mrs. Pearl Cole.

Play 'Time Out For Ginger' at Bonnell Gym Friday

The play, "Time Out for Ginger," by Ronald Alexander, has been selected by the Junior class of the Harrisburg Township high school. It will be presented Friday, Nov. 18, in Bonnell gymnasium.

The story concerns a fairly staid banker, Jim Morgan, his wife, Alicenell Bean, and their three daughters, Carol Lightfoot, Sandy Lasseter, and Judy Wells. The father, who needs some sort of creative release, finds it in lecturing to local high school classes on the need for self-fulfillment. It quickly develops, however, that the youngest of his three daughters, Ginger, played by Carol Lightfoot, has been very much impressed by her father's exhortations. She has further decided that her own true fulfillment can best be realized by going out for the football team.

Any number of complications result: The father's job is jeopardized because the bank president doesn't approve; Ginger's elder sisters insist that their social life has been blighted—especially the sister, Judy Wells, whose boy friend is captain of the football team, Dave Williams; and the girl football player herself finds that playing football and being a girl aren't always compatible, especially when her own boy friend, Jim Madrox, disapproves of what she's doing. After any number of riotous mishaps, the play ends on a happily tender note with the whole family going out to see one of the other sisters, Sandy Lasseter, in the high school play, Ginger being escorted by her reconciled boy friend.

Other characters are the high school principal played by John Mazaros; Liz, the family maid, Sandra Gray; Mr. Hoffman, the father's boss, Allan Burbank.

Gov. Foss Aids Woman Motorist Trying to Change Tire

BROOKINGS, S. D. (AP) — A kind-hearted motorist finally came to the aid of Mrs. Grace Rodee as she was trying to change a flat tire on her car.

Mrs. Rodee asked the man where he came from and he replied "Pierre" since January. Then she asked the man where he worked and he said "in the state house."

At that moment the man looked up and Mrs. Rodee recognized Joe Foss, World War II Marine ace and now governor of South Dakota.

IAA Speaker Warns Farmers They Are Not Indispensable

CHICAGO (AP) — Farmers were warned today against being too sure of the nation's need for them.

M. B. Russell, who heads the University of Illinois agronomy department, said factories may come to replace farms.

He told the Illinois Agricultural Association 41st annual convention, "we have no foundation for assuming agriculture is indispensable."

He explained that the basic job of agriculture boils down to this in scientific terms: "Fixation of solar energy and the elaboration of nitrogen compounds in forms humans can use."

Some Other Way

Russell told the group of farmers that, as a result, "We must take into consideration whether this function can be performed more efficiently in some other way."

Synthetic products already have made "terrific" inroads upon agriculture, he said, citing as examples

Four Register Carriers Win 'Good Luck Clover' Prizes

Four carriers of The Daily Register won special prizes in the first annual "Good Luck Clover" Newspaperboy contest sponsored by Lever Brothers company.

They are: Jerry Jahn, 211 East McIlraith; Billy Bob Upchurch, 326 West Raymond; Bob Brackney, 212 West Baker; Modene Melton, 9 West Raymond.

The enterprising carriers won their prizes by asking their customers to save the green four-leaf clovers from packages of Good Luck margarine.

They emerge as prize winners from among the 120,273 newspaper carriers, representing 650 newspapers, who participated in the contest.

Each carrier who collected enough clovers to become eligible for any of the 53 de luxe prizes—ranging from television sets and bicycles to encyclopedias and movie cameras—made his selections from a master list. So ingenious were some of the carriers that they were able to qualify for as many as six or seven different prizes.

Ten national winners, who collected the most clovers in the contest, were awarded $1,000 scholarships to the U. S. college of their choice.

They are William B. McMillan, Wilmington (Del.) News; James Hodgkiss, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph; William R. Cooper Jr., Philadelphia Bulletin; James F. Storey, Hammond (Ind.) Times; James W. Sharp, Great Bend (Kan.) Daily Tribune; Albert G. Feczko Jr., Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; Joseph P. Heywang, Passaic (N. J.) Herald-News; Jeff Davis, Peoria Journal-Star; James Stalker, Terre Haute Tribune; and Thomas L. Steepy, Trenton (N. J.) Times.

PAOLI, Ind. (AP) — Mrs. Mary Ann Hauser, 40, Washington, and one of her six children were killed Monday when their car collided head-on with a big truck loaded with corn on U. S. 150 west of Prospect.

Kenneth Hauser, about 5, died en route to a hospital. The father, Nelson, 42, was injured seriously, and a daughter, Joan, 3, suffered minor injuries.

Cancel Visa for Soviet Archbishop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced today that it has cancelled a visa for Archbishop Boris of Russia to visit the United States.

The State Department said the archbishop's planned visit to this country was called off because Russia insisted that he be free, while in the United States, to minister to American citizens who are members of the Russian Orthodox Church.

The department said this would be an "unacceptable function." A spokesman explained that such an arrangement would give the Russian churchman rights that Russia has refused to give to an American Catholic priest who is planning to go to Moscow.

Texas Eastern helps put in the "curl-ability"

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU

Gas-fired annealing furnaces put the "curl-ability" into collapsible metal tubes made by A. H. Wirz, Inc., for scores of manufacturers of nationally distributed products. Gas is supplied this century-old Chester, Pennsylvania, firm by Philadelphia Electric Company, a customer of Texas Eastern.

Texas Eastern transports natural gas via pipeline from the Southwest to serve many Eastern industries as an ideal "tempering" fuel. For example, did you ever wonder what put the "curl-ability" in your toothpaste or shaving tube? When first extruded from aluminum blanks, these tubes are stiff. After being passed through a four-stage, continuous annealing furnace they are soft and pliable. Gas is used in this annealing process because the required critical temperatures can be accurately controlled. In addition, gas is economical. Texas Eastern makes natural gas abundantly available to homes and industries in Midwestern, Appalachian and Eastern Seaboard areas.

Stevenson Makes Bid for Nomination

Congress to Democratic leadership in the 1954 election.

"Seldom before has the United States faced a period of greater opportunity—and greater danger.

"Our great opportunity lies in the fact that our prosperity and wealth can now be used to give all our people the higher standards and wider opportunities which are mankind's universal demand. These are now within our reach, not simply for the favored few, but for every family in America.

"Prosperity and Peace"

"Our danger lies in the ambition of a new tyranny for mastery of the world, and in Communist exploitation of the hope and discontent of the two-thirds of mankind who now demand a share in the good things of life. In partnership with our friends and Allies, with confidence born of strength and influence born of magnanimity, we must work to uproot the deep causes of conflict and tension and to outlast the very means of war in this atomic age.

"The task of the Democratic Party is to make 'prosperity and peace' not a political slogan but an active search for a better America and a better world.

"I am ready to do what I can to that end either as a worker in the ranks or at the top of the ticket if my party sees fit to so honor me."

The statement was handed to newsmen in a three-room suite already engaged as his political headquarters in Chicago to cover Stevenson's announcements.

Some Other Hopes

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) is expected to include himself among the presidential hopefuls next month and Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman of New York also is spoken of as a possible candidate for the nomination.

Stevenson lost to President Eisenhower in a landslide in 1952.

Political writers from all over the nation were in Chicago to cover Stevenson's announcements.

They were also in Chicago to report on a three-day national Democratic meeting, which Stevenson may well dominate because of his presidential announcement.

The meeting will reach its climax Saturday, when the 55-year-old Stevenson will address a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner at the International Amphitheater. Kefauver and Harriman also will speak, but were expected to yield the limelight to Stevenson.
